

AMECO GENERAL CLASS SUPPLEMENTARY
CODE COURSE, CATALOG NO. 105-33

The General Class Supplementary Code Course is designed to give a prospective amateur operator concentrated additional practice for the General Class code examination. The General Class code examination consists of sending and receiving English words, numbers and punctuation marks at the rate of 13 words per minute.

The course is divided into five lessons - the first lesson is at 12 words per minute and the last lesson is at 15 words per minute. In order to insure passing a 13 word per minute test, the prospective operator should be able to receive at least 15 words per minute. The reason for this is that the student is generally nervous when taking the examination and needs this extra two-minute "cushion".

This course assumes that the amateur can receive approximately 10 to 12 words per minute. If not, one or more of the other Ameco code courses should be used to bring the speed of the operator up to 12 words per minute. The other Ameco code courses are listed at the end of these instructions. If the student has not used code recently, it is suggested that the enclosed 32-page code course booklet be read over completely for review. In fact, even if the operator has had recent code experience, a reading of the first three chapters of the book would be helpful in increasing one's speed.

It is important to practice sending as well as receiving. As the receiving speed improves, the student should improve his sending speed. The sending should be accurate and "clean". Bear in mind that the FCC examiner will test the student in sending, as well as in receiving.

The following material is contained in the General Class Supplementary code record. Use a 33-1/3 RPM record player and a good quality stylus that will not wear the record excessively.

LESSON 1 - 12 W.P.M.

Lesson 1 consists mainly of five-letter code groups. They are not English words or parts of words and because of this, the speed of the lesson appears to be more than 12 words per minute. Make sure that you can copy at this speed before going on to the next lesson.

The Lesson 1 recording consists of the following:

LESSON 2 - 13 W.P.M.

Lesson 2 consists of parts of English words, punctuation marks and numbers. Parts of words are more difficult to memorize than complete words. However, they give similar practice.

The Lesson 2 recording consists of the following:

LESSON 3 - 13 W.P.M.

Lesson 3 is a sample FCC-type General Class code examination. Its format and speed are the same as the actual examination. It consists of English words, numbers and simple punctuation marks at the speed of 13 words per minute.

The Lesson 3 recording consists of the following:

LESSON 5 - 15 W. P. M.

Lesson 5 consists of a mixture of parts of English words, English words and code groups. It is two words per minute faster than the examination and is ideal practice for it. The student should be proficient at this speed before taking the FCC General Class examination.

The Lesson 5 recording consists of the following:
